DETAILED ITINERARY

Day 1 : New Delhi

Saturday. Welcome to India and the start of your holiday! Arrive Delhi, included transfer to hotel. Overnight - New Delhi

Day 2 : Sightseeing in Old Delhi

This morning, our Welcome Meeting takes place, we enjoy a full day sightseeing tour of Delhi, taking in the impressive Red Fort, Jama Masjid - India's oldest and largest mosque, Raj Ghat - the site of Gandhi's cremation and more. Tonight, we enjoy a group Namaste Dinner at a restaurant specialising in classic Indian cuisine.

Old Delhi is the 17th century walled city of Shahjahanabad (capital of Muslim India between the 17th and 19th centuries) with city gates, narrow alleyways, bazaars, many mosques, monuments, forts and other buildings relating to India's Muslim history. The main street in Old Delhi is Chandni Chowk - a colourful, if hopelessly congested shopping bazaar. Sightseeing of Old Delhi include the Red Fort built by Shah Jahan in the 16th century, Jama Masjid - the largest mosque in India and final architectural extravaganza of Shah Jahan and Raj Ghat - a marble memorial marking the spot where the great leader - Mahatma Gandhi was cremated after his assassination.

New Delhi, in contrast to Old Delhi is a city of wide tree-lined streets, parks, fountains and roundabouts - designed by Edward Lutyens and built as the imperial capital of India by the British. Highlights include Rajpath - an immense broad boulevard flanked on either side by ornamental ponds and India Gate erected in memory of Indian soldiers who died in the First World War. Overnight - New Delhi (B, D)

Day 3 : The Taj Mahal

Delhi - Agra. Departing Delhi, we drive to Agra, once India's Mughal capital. The Taj Mahal, described as the most extravagant monument ever constructed for love, is a fine example of Mughal architecture built by Emperor Shah Jahan in memory of his beloved second wife - Mumtaz Mahal, who died tragically during childbirth. Built entirely of white marble, construction began in 1631, the year in which Mumtaz died, and was not completed until 1653. A staggering total of 20,000 workers contributed their skills, in the construction of this unique mausoleum.

After our visit to the Taj Mahal, we head to Agra Fort for a short tour. Behind its colossal walls are some of the finest Mughal buildings in India. Construction of the fort was commenced during the reign of Emperor Akbar and additions were made until the rule of his grandson Shah Jahan. During Akbar's time, it was primarily a military fort though later the focus shifted and it partially became a palace. After our touring there is a visit to a visit a marble craftshop before time to relax back at the hotel.
Overnight - Agra (B)

Day 4 : Jaipur

Agra - Jaipur. En route to Jaipur, we visit ghostly former Mughal city of Fatehpur Sikri. This magnificent fortified city was the capital of the Mughal Empire from 1571 until 1585, when it was abandoned dramatically due to a lack of water to support the peoples who resided in the city. Thanks to the very durable red sandstone, from which it was built, Fatehpur Sikri remains fantastically preserved. Upon our guided tour we'll explore the women's quarters; the emperor's quarters; a quarter for princes and noblemen; and weapons housing. We see various temples, places of worships, pavilions, public areas and examples of everyday living such as areas from where ablutions were performed, to an ancient aqua cooling system and marvel at how life must have been for the inhabitants of this old city.

We continue to Udai Vilas Palace for lunch, followed by a visit to the rural town of Perharsar. After a walk through the village, we continue to the Pink City of Jaipur, capital of Rajasthan and a top spot for having tailored clothes made.
Overnight - Jaipur (B, L)

Day 5 : Jaipur

Jaipur. Opt to see the pink city from high above with our early morning balloon flight. After we embark on excursion to Amber Fort, before taking in some sightseeing within the Old City and City Palace.

An early start takes us to the Amber Fort, located just outside the city limits. Once the ancient capital of Jaipur State, construction of the fort/palace was started in 1592 by Maharaja Man Singh, the Rajput commander of Akbar's army. The fort is stunningly situated atop a hill. We'll ascend the road leading to the palace in princely style, aboard Indian elephants - subject to regulations/availability as the elephants are limited to the number of trips that can make up the fort each day. We explore the richly decorated palace admiring how kings and queens once lived.

En route to the City Palace, we'll pass Hawa Mahal – the Palace of the Winds. Although little more than an impressive façade it is one of the city's landmarks. The 5-storey building which overlooks the main street of the bustling old city is a stunning example of Rajput architecture with it's pink, delicately honeycombed sandstone windows.

We visit the City Palace, a blend of Rajasthani and Mughal architecture. If the flag is flying, the Maharaja is in residence. A part of the palace has been converted into a museum, which has an impressive collection of arts, carpets, enamelware and weaponry.

Just over the road, (look out for the snake charmers that dot our route) from the City Palace is Jantar Mantar, an observatory of astronomy built by Jai Singh in 1728. Of the five observatories he built, this is the largest and best preserved. At first glance, Jantar Mantar resembles a sculpture park, though in fact, each construction has a specific scientific purpose. Some measure the positions of stars, whilst others calculate eclipses, the lunar calendar and simply the time of day. Even today, most of the constructions remain accurate!

Jaipur is the place to shop until you drop, so if you fancy a bit of retail therapy, be sure to do it here. Shop for jootis (traditional Rajasthani curled shoes) Jaipur's famous blue pottery, textiles and handicrafts around the City Palace or Hawa Mahal. Be sure to explore the Johari Bazaar in the Old Pink City which are great for shopping. In 1876, Maharaja Ram Singh had the entire old city swathed in pink paint! Not as mad as it seems, as pink is a colour in India associated with hospitality. The new paint job was completed in time for a regal visit by the Prince of Wales (later King Edward VII), a tradition that has been maintained.
Overnight - Jaipur (B)

Day 6 : Surajgarh - Shekhawati Region

Jaipur - Surajgarh - Shekhawati. After breakfast, we travel by road in a due westerly direction to the semidesert Shekhawati region, which lies in a triangular area between Delhi, Jaipur and Bikaner. Starting around the 14th century, a number of Muslim clans moved into the region of Shekhawati. Towns were developed and subsequently became important trading posts on the ancient caravan routes emanating from the coastal ports of Gujarat. With large amounts of money coming from intensive trade, the merchants of Shekhawati were keen to erect mansions known as havelis, on a large scale, as glittering testimony to their newfound wealth. The region is now justly famous for it's fine painted havelis.

Havelis are courtyard-style mansion homes that were built by these wealthy merchant families. Unremarkable from the outside, their courtyards are often painted and decorated with quite remarkable designs. The largest mansions had as many as 4 courtyards and were up to 6 stories in height. Having a house of such grand proportion prompted families to decorate the interior walls quite lavishly with Hindu related themes acknowledging mythology. Afternoon taking a walk through the local village and touring a wealthy merchant haveli there is time to relax at our hotel.
Overnight - Surajgarh - Shekhawati Region (B, D)

Day 7 : Bikaner - a fine desert outpost

Shekhawati region – Bikaner. Travelling west, our next stop is the 14th century desert town of Bikaner. Once an important staging post on the great caravan routes, much of the atmospheric old town which we will explore is still encircled by massive fortified walls. Within these walls are havelis, artisan shops and people going about their daily lives. We also visit the spectacular Junagarh Fort & museum, built between 1587 and 1593 during the rule of Rai Singh.
Overnight - Bikaner (B)

Days 8-9 : Jaisalmer - the east, west silk route

Bikaner - Jaisalmer. Today, we travel southwest to the striking medieval caravan outpost of Jaisalmer. Unique in India, this captivating sandy outpost is known as the Golden City owing to the honey colour imparted to its stone ramparts by the setting sun. We'll spend 2 nights in Jaisalmer soaking up the atmosphere in this amazing town.

Jaisalmer was once a very busy business centre on the east west silk route. Its strategic position in the camel train routes between India and Asia brought the town great prosperity. Merchants and townsfolk built magnificent dwellings and mansions architecturally decorated in impressive and intricate style. The best mansions or 'havelis' are certainly found in Jaisalmer.

The fort of Jaisalmer is among the oldest forts in India and the most alive of any fort, palace or museum that you're likely to visit anywhere in the country. A city within a city- one fourth of the population of the city of Jaisalmer still live in the confines of the massive fort complex! Inside the city walls of this impressive fort are beautiful houses built out of the unique yellow sandstone found in the area. During our 2 night stay in Jaisalmer, we'll also enjoy an evening camel safari amongst the dunes of the Thar Desert.

Overnight - Jaisalmer

Day 10 : Jodhpur - the blue city

Jaisalmer - Jodhpur. Today, we travel to Jodhpur, the largest city in Rajasthan after Jaipur. Whilst Jaipur is known as the Pink City, Jodhpur earns its name as the Blue City, in reference to the indigo coloured buildings that dot the old city and the locals belief that blue acts as effective defence against mosquitoes! We'll enjoy some touring of Jodhpur's highlights. The old city is surrounded by a 10km long wall. In the old city are a tangle of streets and alleyways, bazaars and human traffic.

Standing at the edge of the Thar Desert, the city is dominated by its massive fort, which sits atop a sheer rocky ridge right in the middle of the town. Meherangarh Fort, still run by the Maharaja of Jodhpur is an impressive sight. Later during free time, why not explore the Clock Tower markets, where you can bargain for spices, richly coloured Rajasthani textiles and ornaments. Overnight - Jodhpur (B)

Day 11 : Ranakpur

Jodhpur - Ranakpur. Leaving Jodhpur, we drive to Ranakpur, a small town tucked away in a remote valley and famed for its beautiful 14th century Jain temples. We'll enjoy some exploration here and time to relax at our hotel. Overnight - Ranakpur (B)

Days 12-13 : Udaipur

Ranakpur - Udaipur. Continuing south, we arrive at Udaipur. An oasis of cool, with its massive lake and Venetian-like appearance, Udaipur is one of the most romantic towns in Rajasthan. A favourite amongst travellers, Udaipur is crammed full of palaces and temples. During our stay we'll enjoy a cruise on Lake Pichola, plus touring of the imposing City Palace, not to mention free time to explore and perhaps shop for colourful Rajasthani souvenirs and Indian spices. Overnight - Udaipur

Day 14 : Fly back to Delhi

Udaipur - Delhi. Departure transfer to the airport to board a morning flight to Delhi. Option to travel onward to Mumbai, see note below. The afternoon is free for you to relax at the hotel or to head out and further explore Delhi. Overnight - New Delhi (B)

Day 15 : New Delhi

Saturday. Saying goodbye to our new found friends, our tour ends, hotel check-out and included onward transfer to airport. (B)

Diwali - 22 Oct 2011 departure

Arrangements for our Passage to India tour departing 22 October 2011 are as follows:

- Days 1 - 4 - as standard
- Day 5 - Diwali lights up Jaipur

Maybe opt for an early morning balloon flight over the pink city of Jaipur. Look out for the snake charmers that dot our route, as we travel to the 16th century Amber Fort. An exotic elephant ride transports us to the lofty fort, where we'll enjoy a tour of this Rajput extravaganza. Later in the afternoon we tour the City Palace, which boasts an interesting museum of regal attire and Jantar Mantar, an ancient astronomical observatory.

Tonight we make our way to the Julelal Temple located in the heart of Jaipur beautifully decorated with lights for our Diwali celebrations. This pretty white washed temple is located dedicated to the local deity Jhulelal in addition to Lord Shiva, Goddess Lakshmi and Lord Ganesh.

Of all the festivals celebrated in India, Diwali is by far the most glamorous and important. The five day celebration commemorates the return of Lord Rama, along with Sita and Lakshmana, from his fourteen years of exile and vanquishing the demon king Ravana. The people of Ayodhya, the Capital of Rama, overwhelmed with joy illuminated the kingdom with earthen oil lamps and set firecrackers ablaze to welcome the return of their king

Today, Diwali involves the lighting of small clay lamps filled with oil signifying the triumph of good over evil. During Diwali, all the celebrants wear new clothes and share sweets and snacks with family members and friends. Believing in good luck and good fortune associated with the events most Indian business communities choose to begin the financial year on the first day of Diwali.

Our evening commences with the Lakshmi Puja Ceremony conducted by the temple priests where worship and offerings of food and money are given to Lakshmi the goddess of wealth (by those who wish to attain it or preserve it) and oil lamps are lit to light up her path into your pocket or to your home. The goddess also likes all things to be clean and tidy, in some homes the household broom may also receive a special offering on such an auspicious day.

After an outdoor musical performance of traditional Diwali song and dance we sit down to a vegetarian buffet dinner hosted in the temple garden. As firecrackers light the balmy, autumn night sky we too continue to celebrate Diwali with, and alongside the colourful and high spirited people of Rajasthan. Dinner and Overnight - Jaipur

- Days 6 - 15 - Arrangements as per our standard itinerary
