DETAILED ITINERARY

Day 1 : New Delhi

Saturday. Welcome to India and the start of your holiday! Arrive Delhi, included transfer to hotel. Free afternoon and evening. Overnight - New Delhi

Day 2 : Old Delhi & New

Delhi. Before the tour commences, we hold an early breakfast welcome meeting. Here, you'll meet the tour leader and the rest of the group. Entrance fees and tipping kitty will be collected at this time. The tip kitty will cover all the tipping throughout the tour, except a tip for your tour leader.

Setting off, we begin our sightseeing of Delhi – the nation's capital and India's third largest city. Today's tour will offer a fascinating insight into India's principal capital city.

Old Delhi is the 17th century walled city of Shahjahanabad (capital of Muslim India between the 17th and 19th centuries) with city gates, narrow alleyways, bazaars, many mosques, monuments, forts and other buildings relating to India's Muslim history. The main street in Old Delhi is Chandni Chowk – a colourful, if hopelessly congested shopping bazaar.

Sightseeing of Old Delhi - highlights:

- Red Fort- The red stone walls of the fort extend for 2kms and vary in height from 8m on the riverside to 33m on the city side. Built by Shah Jahan started construction of the massive fort in 1638 and it was completed in 1648.
- Jama Masjid- The largest mosque in India and the final architectural extravagance of Shah Jahan.
- Raj Ghat- on the banks of the Yamuna River lies a marble memorial marking the spot where the great leader- Mahatma Gandhi was cremated after his assassination.

New Delhi, in contrast to Old Delhi is a city of wide tree-lined streets, parks, fountains and roundabouts – designed by Edward Lutyens and built as the imperial capital of India by the British. Connaught Place (Rajiv Chowk) with its outer circle Connaught Circus (Indira Chowk) forms the business and tourist centre. New Delhi also houses many government buildings including Rashtrapati Bhavan – the official residence of the President of India which stands at the opposite end of the Rajpath from India Gate.

Sightseeing of New Delhi – highlights:

- Rajpath – an immensely broad boulevard flanked on either side by ornamental ponds. The Republic Day parade is held here every 26 January, drawing millions of people to this spectacle. It is at the eastern end of Rajpath we'll see India Gate.

- India Gate - The 42m high stone "Arch of Triumph", erected in memory of Indian soldiers who died in the First World War.

Tonight, we enjoy a Namaste Dinner at a restaurant specialising in Indian cuisine. Overnight - New Delhi (B, D)

Day 3 : Jaipur - the Pink City!

Delhi - Jaipur. Today we travel by road, to the Pink City of Jaipur, capital of Rajasthan. The journey takes approximately 5 - 6 hours. Upon arrival we'll embark on some sightseeing taking in the Old City and City Palace.

In 1876, Maharaja Ram Singh had the entire old city swathed in pink paint! Not as mad as it seems, as pink is a colour in India associated with hospitality. The new paint job was completed in time for a regal visit by the Prince of Wales (later King Edward VII), a tradition that has been maintained, hence Jaipur's name - the Pink City.

En route to the City Palace, we'll pass Hawa Mahal - the Palace of the Winds. Although little more than an impressive façade it is one of the city's landmarks. The 5-storey building which overlooks the main street of the bustling old city is a stunning example of Rajput architecture with its pink, delicately honeycombed sandstone windows. We visit the City Palace, a blend of Rajasthani and Mughal architecture. If the flag is flying, the Maharaja is in residence. A part of palace has been converted into a museum, which has an impressive collection of arts, carpets, enamel ware and weaponry.

Just over the road from the City Palace is Jantar Mantar (take a glimpse at the snake charmers, fortune tellers and astronomers who merrily lining our path) an observatory of astronomy built by Jai Singh in 1728. Of the five observatories he built, this is the largest and best preserved. At first glance, Jantar Mantar resembles a sculpture park, though in fact, each construction has a specific scientific purpose. Some measure the positions of stars, whilst others calculate eclipses, the lunar calendar and simply the time of day. Even today, most of the constructions remain accurate! Overnight - Jaipur (B)

Day 4 : Amber Fort, Elephants

Jaipur . Opt to see the pink city from high above with our early morning balloon flight. After we travel just outside Jaipur to the Amber Fort. Once the ancient capital of Jaipur State, construction of the fort/palace was started in 1592 by Maharaja Man Singh, the Rajput commander of Akbar's army. The fort is a superb example of Rajput architecture, stunningly situated atop a hill. We'll ascend the road leading to the palace in princely style, aboard Indian elephants, - subject to regulations/availability as the elephants are limited to the number of trips that can make up the fort each day. We explore the richly decorated palace admiring how kings and queens once lived. Enjoy the rest of the day at leisure.

Jaipur is the place to shop until you drop, so if you fancy a bit of retail therapy, be sure to do it here. Shop for jootis (traditional Rajasthani curled shoes) Jaipur's famous blue pottery, textiles and handicrafts around the City Palace or Hawa Mahal. Be sure to explore the Johari Bazaar in the Old Pink City which are great for shopping. Overnight - Jaipur (B)

Day 5 : Discover Village Life

Jaipur - Bharatpur via Peaharsar. Our first stop is Chand Baori, a famous 9th century stepwell in the village of Abhaneri. Then driving to the small rural village of Peaharsar, on foot we walk the backstreets discovering local life, traditions and (if open) visit the village school where we operate our 'Change for Children' programme. Here, we'll also visit a charming haveli (mansion house) with small courtyard, lawned gardens and rustic 'shabby chic' appeal carefully being restored to glory of better farming years.

After hotel check in at Bharatpur and time to freshen up we visit the UNESCO World Heritage Site of Keoladeo Ghana National Park. Keoladeo's 29 sq.km of swamps and lakes constitute one of the most important breeding and migratory areas in the world, where from October - March the some 200 plus local species are joined by a further 130 species from as far afield as the Russian Steppes and Central Asia. Overnight - Bharatpur (B, D)

Day 6 : Taj Mahal

Bharatpur - Agra. En route to Agra, we visit Fatehpur Sikri; this magnificent fortified city was the capital of the Mughal Empire from 1571 until 1585, when it was abandoned dramatically due to a lack of water to support the peoples who resided in the city. Thanks to the very durable red sandstone, from which it was built, Fatehpur Sikri remains fantastically preserved.

Fatehpur Sikri is divided into four main parts: the women's quarters; the emperor's quarters; a quarter for princes and noblemen; and weapons housing. We see various temples, places of worship, pavilions, public areas and examples of everyday living such as areas from where ablutions were performed, to an ancient aqua cooling system and marvel at how life must have been for the inhabitants of this old city.

Continuing on to Agra, we embark on a short tour of the Agra Fort. Behind its colossal walls are some of the finest Mughal buildings in India. Construction of the fort was commenced during the reign of Emperor Akbar and additions were made until the rule of his grandson Shah Jahan. During Akbar's time, it was primarily a military fort though later the focus shifted and it partially became a palace.

After visiting Agra Fort we take a short motorised buggy ride to reach the legendary Taj Mahal. Described as the most extravagant monument ever built for love, this fine example of Mughal architecture was built by Emperor Shah Jahan in memory of his beloved second wife-Mumtaz Mahal, who died tragically during childbirth.

Built entirely of white marble, construction began in 1631, the year in which Mumtaz died, and was not completed until 1653. A staggering total of 20,000 workers contributed their skills, in the construction of this unique mausoleum.

After our touring there is a visit to a marble craftshop before time to relax back at the hotel. Overnight - Agra (B)

Day 7 : Onward to Delhi

Agra - Delhi. After breakfast we return to Delhi, the latter part of the afternoon is free for you to relax or

Holi & the Elephant Parade tour - 23 March 2013

Special arrangements for our Taj Traveller tour departing 23 March 2013 are as follows:

Day 4 afternoon. Today its festival time for the elephants of Jaipur. Arriving at approx 4pm to the open air Rambagh Polo Ground camels and horses and lively folk dancers and musicians will proceed the stars of the show. Groomed to perfection, glittering in gold, laden with silk tassels and intricately decorated with brightly coloured motifs, row upon row of elephants will move gracefully in procession to an enthralled audience. Hoping to be ringside, we'll witness the colourful celebrations which include the crowning of the Best Decorated Elephant, a regal match of polo played from elephant back and the comical bout of man verses elephant in a game of tug of war. Breakfast & overnight Jaipur

Day 5 - Jaipur - Bharatpur via Peharsar. It's an early start today as the Holi festivities bring thousands of devotees out onto the streets in dazzling colour and good cheer.

Celebrated all over India since ancient times, Holi is an annual festival celebrated on the day after the full moon in the Hindu month of Phalguna. Originally Holi was an agricultural festival celebrating the arrival of spring. In keeping this tradition people now a day choose to celebrate the occasion by throwing brightly coloured spices or herbal powders into the air, symbolically they are ridding the gloom of winter and rejoicing in the colours and liveliness of spring.

Today the central ritual of Holi incorporates the applying and throwing of coloured water and powders on friends and family which gives the holiday its modern name 'the Festival of Colour'. This ritual also believed to be based on events in Hindu mythology and is associated with Krishna's playful splashing of the maids with water, but most of all it celebrates the coming of spring and the vibrancy of colour that the season brings.

Arriving at the small rural village of Peharsar, we tour a charming haveli (mansion house) with small courtyard, lawned gardens and rustic 'shabby chic' appeal carefully being restored to glory of better farming years. From here its a short drive to our hotel in Bharatpur.

After checking in and time for lunch, you can pull up a chair and watch the Holi celebrations taking place out on the lawn. For those wanting to get involved we'll be providing white kurta pyjamas for you to wear and organic colours for you to throw. In this game of cat and mouse, stealth and the art of surprise will serve you well. After a bombardment of powder bombs and shower of water in every imaginable colour we'll etch an escape plan to Keoladeo Ghana National Park for a late afternoon bicycle rickshaw ride and birdwatching. Breakfast, dinner & overnight Bharatpur.

KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

Climate

India has a three-season year known as the hot, the wet and the cool. The best time to visit is between late September and April when temperatures are cooler and therefore ideal for sightseeing. In the summer months of May to July it is less crowded and conditions are perfect for sightseeing and photography, although parts of India are extremely hot. July signals the start of the monsoon or wet season that continues until early or mid September. Although the weather is humid, the days are punctuated by intermittent rainfall and the monsoon is India is actually quite spectacular and quite refreshing.

Health Requirements

It is recommended that you be vaccinated for Tetanus and Polio, if you haven't had a booster in the last ten years. Food and waterborne diseases are more common, so we recommend vaccinations for Typhoid (valid 3 years) and Hepatitis A (validity varies). You are also advised to take anti-Malarial medication.

Currency

The Indian Rupees (INR) is non-exportable and only available in India. Pounds Sterling, US Dollars and Euros are easily exchanged upon arrival at any major bank or your hotel. ATM's are also available in all major towns and cities.

If planning on using your ATM card whilst in India, please let your bank know of your travel plans prior to departure to avoid your bank assuming that the transaction is fraudulent and blocking your card. Exchange rates are subject to fluctuation.

USD 1 = INR 45
GBP 1 = INR 75
EURO 1 = INR 65
AUD 1 = INR 47

Time

India is 5 hours 30 mins ahead of GMT.

Visas

All foreign nationals must obtain a visa for a visit to India and it is essential the visa be procured prior to travel. A 6 month single entry visa (valid from the date of issue) is issued for most nationals planning to visit India. If you are planning to visit a neighbouring country such as Nepal, Bhutan or Sri Lanka and return to India you will require a multiple entry visa which must be procured in advance of travel. In order to obtain this, you will need to provide the embassy with a detailed itinerary and full flight information, showing the dates and ports of exit and re-entry to India.

If you are a resident in the UK we offer a visa service to save you the inconvenience of having to queue at the embassy, please visit our website or contact us for further information.

Visa requirements are subject to change and that visa procurement prior to departure is solely the responsibility of the traveller and not of on the go. Please also ensure that your passport is valid for at least 6 months from your planned date of return from India.
